

Research on GlovoApp :

Sorry I was just thought of learning about the GlovoApp, so just for research purposes I have been taken all the api's of the glove app and did some learning and also did some testing on apps. which are in stage and as well as in the production. i thought everything will be fully secured but some of the api's are still open. And anyone can insert the data into the database using the backend open api's and also I have been trying to the know about the IP address and DNS that too I have got from my search. Even for a mail there is no validations on backend, so that users will be able to post the data in any formats they like I have given below. I think this will cause some bad data's view in production database server.

I am most interested on making any kind of app more secured, thats my first goal, I used to check the security level of all the products available in the market, thats my hobby too. But I don't like to hack anything related to payments. I just spent an hour to get these details. If time permits I will do for end to end testing of api's and its security concerns of glovoapp. Thanks

Details Regards my learning:

Glovo server details :

Country of origin for 30.1% of all visits is Spain. It lies approximately 930 miles away from the server location (Ireland) and such a distance cannot critically affect website speed, but moving the server closer to their user base in Spain can speed up Api.glovoapp.com page load time anyway.

Glovo uses aws cloud ec2 with AWS elasticbeanstalk.

<store.faq.1.answer>

Ordering is easy! You only have to:

1. Choose a product from one of the categories...a difficult decision!
2. Or we can send a courier to pick-up or drop-off something you already have: keys, a bag, an envelope...
3. Add you delivery information and payment type, Done!</store.faq.1.answer>

<store.faq.2.answer>The payment occurs through our application and is finalised upon the delivery of the order. The courier will ask you to confirm the delivery and then proceed to charge you for the service and the purchase, if there is any.</store.faq.2.answer>

<store.faq.3.answer>As long as you have an assigned courier you can follow them in real time and communicate with them for any questions. If you do not have a courier assigned, your order remains in the system pending allocation. If large delays are anticipated you will see it with a message embedded in the app. In any case, if you would like to cancel your order and there is no courier assigned you can do it yourself from the current order at no cost.</store.faq.3.answer>
